CLUES IN THE PHOTO

1. Mall façade with Paris, Jumbo and Easy logos (Cencosud) – Portal Valparaíso at Av. Argentina
   Paris, Jumbo and Easy are Chilean Cencosud retail brands, pointing to Chile and specifically the mall on Av. Argentina in Valparaíso.
2. Amphitheatre of steep hills densely covered with colourful houses, characteristic of Valparaíso
   The hillsides packed with small colourful houses surrounding a flat coastal plan are the signature urban landscape of Valparaíso.
3. Electrified Metro Valparaíso tracks with a train and Barón station platforms at right
   A commuter rail line running along the waterfront beside an elevated road matches Metro Valparaíso near Barón station.
4. Long curved warehouse (Bodega Simón Bolívar) and empty rail yard beside the bay
   The long curved port warehouse and vacant former rail yard by the water match the Barón sector on Valparaíso's bay.

EXPLANATION BY WYSS TERRA LOCATOR

The Paris/Jumbo/Easy Cencosud signage places the scene in Chile, and the hillside amphitheatre of colourful houses is unmistakably Valparaíso. The flyover, the Metro Valparaíso tracks and platforms, and the long curved Simón Bolívar warehouse on the waterfront pin the scene to the Barón node where Avenida Argentina meets Avenida España. The view looks southwest along palm-lined Avenida Brasil toward the city centre, with the mall on the left and the bay on the right. This means the camera is in an elevated building or on the slope of Cerro Barón, just northeast of the mall. The exact vantage point remains uncertain by a few hundred metres.

REVIEW BY WYSS TERRA VERIFIER

|---|---|
| Verdict | Confirmed: the review arrived at the same place. |
| Distance between estimates | 207 m |
| Note | Verified the Cencosud signage (Paris, Jumbo, Easy), the flyover, the Metro Valparaíso tracks with station platforms, the Bodega Simón Bolívar warehouse and the palm-lined Avenida Brasil; all match the Barón sector at the Av. Argentina / Av. España junction. I kept the candidate and only shifted the camera point slightly to the foot of Cerro Barón, northeast of the mall. |
